

One Day Garden & Flower Photography Workshops

The workshops are led by award winning photographer Stephen Studd who has over 25 years experience as a professional photographer. His photography has been published in many areas around the world, from National Geographic magazine to countless books, brochures and print media. He was a guest on the Alan Titchmarsh show in relation to the RHS Photographer of the Year competition 2011. Stephen is a member of the Garden Media Guild, Professional Garden Photographers Association and National Association of Photoshop Professionals.

The one day workshops at Painswick Rococo Garden are aimed at people who would like to take their creative side further whilst learning new skills from a professional.

It is aimed at the Intermediate level. A working knowledge of your Digital SLR to a basic level is essential.

The day will cover:

The creative side of Garden & Flower Photography

Why to shoot in Raw and Manual mode

Exposure and taking control of it

The importance of the Histogram on the camera and how to read it

Apertures and depth of field

The use of different lenses and equipment

A range of creative techniques will be explored

Part of the morning will be classroom based followed by an extensive practical session around the garden, finishing with a critique of the days shoot.

Each workshop is limited to only 5 participants which ensures a good tutor to student ratio.
